REMINDER - IRU AWARD FOR TOP ROAD TRANSPORT MANAGERS, 2018

Final call for nominations

The IRU Award for Top Road Transport Managers 2018 will be attributed only to the top managers of road transport companies engaged in the national or international transport of goods or passengers by road, including taxi companies, who have done honour to their profession through their wide professional experience and specific managerial achievements. IRU Member Associations whose affiliates are not transport operators or taxi companies receive this document for information only.

The aim of the IRU Award for Top Road Transport Managers is to show the IRU's and the national association's recognition and appreciation of the top person who is solely in charge of a successful road transport company. This IRU distinction is attributed only to top managers who have been exceptionally active in the road transport industry and have demonstrated outstanding professional experience and specific managerial achievements.

These exemplary achievements should include the implementation of a set of core values in the areas of moral qualities and labour standards, as well as innovative solutions to improve environmental protection, road safety and productivity. Furthermore, the managers in question must show loyalty towards their colleagues and their IRU national association as well as an outstanding level of know-how obtained through the appropriate vocational training for themselves and their staff.

IRU Member Associations alone are responsible for identifying potential candidates amongst their membership and for collecting and evaluating the relevant information on the basis of the criteria laid down in the regulation. By means of an electronic application form, IRU Member Associations should subsequently nominate only those candidates who meet all the conditions.

All nominations should be submitted to the IRU by 31 January 2018 at the latest.
